New start-up Technovative has all hands on deck to build name recognition and draw in talent. In the rush of onboarding a large new team, they've seen a drop in morale as employees feel lost in the shuffle.

The solution?

New hires now get a branded welcome gift to make them feel at home, which they can show off during regular Friday lunch socials. The retro style lunchboxes get plenty of compliments outside of the office too—which helps spread the word about Technovative!
